

CBIS continues expansion of Catholic Responsible InvestmentsSM team

Chicago, October 4, 2021

Christian Brothers Investment Services, Inc. (CBIS) today announced that Lisa Cox is joining CBIS as a Director within its Catholic Responsible InvestmentsSM team, reporting to Julie Tanner, Managing Director. Lisa will be focusing on CBIS' Active Ownership Program, which, through global shareholder advocacy, works to encourage corporate behavior that positively impacts people and the planet.

Lisa joins CBIS with over 20 years of experience working on rule of law and access to justice issues in Sub-Saharan Africa, South and Southeast Asia, the Caribbean, and the United States. Most recently she worked at Verité, a labor rights NGO where she supported companies' efforts to identify and remediate risks of labor abuses in their supply chains and led several US Department of Labor funded projects aimed at improving enforcement of child labor and forced labor laws in targeted countries. Prior to joining Verité, Lisa worked with the International Labor Organization, UN Women, the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, the American Bar Association's Rule of Law Initiative, and the US Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Lisa holds a J.D. from American University's Washington College of Law, a Masters in Public Administration from New York University, and a Bachelors of Arts in Economics and Political Science.

"We are excited to have Lisa, a highly respected expert, join the Catholic Responsible InvestmentsTM team," said Julie Tanner. "Lisa's expertise and skills stem from her background as a human rights lawyer and her decades of working with companies and communities worldwide to prevent human trafficking, promote equality and respect the rights of workers. Her experiences will greatly strengthen our corporate engagements to protect human dignity and build healthy communities – core tenants of Catholic teaching."
